Object Believed Missing British Sub Located on Channel Bottom

RESCUE SHIPS FIGHT TIDE IN EFFORT TO HOOK SUNKEN CRAFT

EXPERTS FEAR IT IMPOSSIBLE THAT ANY OF CREW CAN BE RESCUED ALIVE

Portland, Eng., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Rescue ships, working under flood-lights in the darkness, fought the ripping tides of the English channel off Portland tonight in an almost hopeless effort to find the sunken submarine M-2 in time to save its crew of 60.

Some of the search and salvage vessels abandoned work at nightfall because of the strength of the tide, but others worked determinedly on.

An object which might be the missing submarine M-2 was located by searchers in the channel today. A diver descended from the mothership Adamant to identify it.

The object was located in sweeping operations by net and cable covering a square mile. The salvage ships were hampered by a freshening breeze and strong current.

Twelve naval vessels, including destroyers, mine sweepers and patrol boats, cruised over a circle of two miles around a buoy marking the supposed location of the submarine. They swept over the sandy bed of the channel, 102 feet deep at the point, with nets and cables, trying to hook the lost ship. Among the wrecks of the war with which this "dead man's" bay is strewn, the task of locating the submarine accurately was formidable.

Considerable confusion existed over the position of the submarine.

The captain in charge of the Portland dock yard, said "there is no news except a seaplane has just discovered a patch of oil indicating the probable position."

The steamer Dragon arrived at Weymouth and reported that en route she saw tugs towing lighters, indicating that rescue or lifting operations were being made.

Wanted—Dead or Alive!

Organizing one of the greatest manhunts in the state's history, Acting Governor Robert Burns of Oklahoma has offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, shown above, "dead or alive." Floyd is charged with leading a gang blamed for 10 Oklahoma bank robberies in which six persons were killed.

House Passes Resolution for 6-Hour Day Probe

Washington, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—The House today passed the Couzens-Croser resolution directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the feasibility of a six-hour day for railroad employees. The Senate previously had passed the measure. Rep. Blanton, Democrat, Texas, raised the only dissenting vote in the House. The measure directs the commission to hold hearings and report not later than Dec. 15.

SPEAKERS CHARGE UNFAIR TACTICS OF FEDERAL BANKS

PERFECT ORGANIZATION "TO PROTECT INTERESTS OF BORROWERS FROM ST. PAUL BANK"

Williston, N. D., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—An organization "to protect the interests of borrowers of funds from the federal land bank of St. Paul" was perfected today by a group of 100 residents of Williams county.

Resolutions were adopted demanding "the halting of foreclosures on homes of farmers in the drought area," a complete survey of the bank's activities in the county, and the removal of the present field representative of the bank.

Speakers charged that the policy of the federal land bank when contrasted with that of local banks and other loan companies was unfair. It was charged that the land bank "has continued its policy of foreclosing mortgages on farm homes for small amounts in comparison to the security involved."

The resolutions said that the bank's policy is "outside all reason and has had the effect of nullifying all relief work undertaken by the American Red Cross and the department of agriculture."

Pennsylvania to Send Delegation for Hoover

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Pennsylvania will send an unimportant Hoover delegation to the Republican national convention in Chicago. Republican State Chairman Edward Martin announced today. The delegation, Martin said, would follow its usual procedure of going to Chicago uninvited. They will be for the re-nomination of President Hoover, he added.

Protest Salaries of Mine Workers' Heads

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Protests against the power and salaries of international officers of the United Mine Workers of America were disclosed at the organization's biennial convention today.

The resolutions committee reported that 52 requests had been made for resolutions to deprive President John L. Lewis and other officers of some of their authority.

Twenty-two other requests were made, the committee reported, for reductions in the salaries of all officers.

15 in Midwest Alcohol Conspiracy Plead Guilty

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Fifteen defendants in the Midwest alcohol conspiracy case were found guilty by a jury today in United States district court. Four were acquitted.

Ten sentences, five of them on men who had previously pleaded guilty, were pronounced by District Judge Walter C. Lindley. Other sentences were deferred until next Tuesday.

The heaviest sentence, two years in prison, was pronounced on Michael Blumberg, Clinton, Iowa. The court said the sentence was to run concurrently with a two year sentence passed in federal court at Peoria.

Church Dignitaries Greet New Archbishop

St. Paul, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—With ceremonies that diffused a religious quiet over a scene that a moment before bustled with cameramen, radio microphone arrangements and military escorts, Archbishop John Gregory Murray was installed on the throne of the see of St. Paul today.

His excellency, the Most Reverend Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate to the United States, led the new archbishop to the throne previously occupied by the illustrious archbishops John Ireland and Austin Dowling.

Thousands crowded the spacious cathedral, thronged on his long steps and perched on vantage points for the procession and ceremonies. Upon his arrival at the church the archbishop moved up the steps between the dapper lines of the St. Thomas military academy cadet corps.

The apostolic delegate pointed out that "the holy see, mindful of your loyalty, has repeatedly honored your diocese, knighting its laymen, decorating the religious and honoring its priests."

Catholic clergy from all parts of the northwest attended the ceremonies. The see includes 26 central counties of Minnesota including the Twin Cities and has jurisdiction over the other dioceses of the state.

City, county and state officials, Gov. Floyd B. Olson, his staff, and Col. Davis L. Stone, Ft. Snelling commandant, were among the dignitaries of the laity who had places in the front pews of the cathedral.

After the pontifical mass the clergymen assembled at a banquet, tendered by the diocesan clergy to Archbishop Murray and visiting clergymen and the hierarchy at the Hotel St. Paul.

CONGRESS PRESSED BY DEMANDS MORE CREDIT FACILITIES

PROPOSAL OF SENATOR VANDENBERG FOR LOAN FACILITIES EXPANSION KEYNOTE

Washington, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Efforts to further expand credit facilities and provide the basis for additional currency are to be pressed in congress.

They will center around a proposal by Senator Vandenberg, Rep., Mich., for permitting federal reserve banks to expand loan facilities by accepting promissory notes of banks based on collateral not now eligible for rediscount, such as bonds, warrants, notes and other securities of the federal government, states, counties, municipalities and other political units. The plan is said to be receiving sympathetic consideration in administration quarters though no public endorsements have been given.

The White House has made known its unqualified opposition to any currency inflation in the European sense of issuing money backed by no reserves of gold or securities. European assertions that this country was embarking on such inflation through the administration's financial relief program were declared to be entirely unfounded.

Congress is echoing with many proposals for increasing currency. Senator Wheeler, Dem., Mont., spoke this week in favor of going on a bi-metal basis using silver along with gold. Such proposals, only a few months ago regarded as visionary, are now being turned over thoughtfully.

Minnesota Democrats Start Roosevelt Boom

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Minnesota Democrats today started the Franklin D. Roosevelt for president campaign in the state with the arrival of campaign buttons and advertising material.

Leaders said that the party conference will be called sometime in March. The state platform will be drafted at that time, according to John J. Farver, state Democratic chairman.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Pete McKenzie, notorious El Paso and San Antonio slayer, escaped from a death cell in the Bexar county jail here last night, it was discovered today when a jailer took breakfast to McKenzie's cell.

McKenzie was sentenced to death for the killing of Detective Sam Street in 1927 but was saved from the electric chair at the last minute by an insanity ruling.

Comb Desert Wastes For Seven Escaped From Arizona Prison

Florence, Ariz., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Seven men, five of whom used an empty oil truck as a means of escape, were sought in the desert wastes today after a sensational break from the Arizona state prison.

Four felons risked their lives by concealing themselves in the interior of a tank truck which hauled crude oil to the prison. A trusty drove the truck from the prison and escaped with the others by kidnapping a county employee.

Two other trusties escaped from the prison earlier in the day. Among the men who escaped was Jack Hunter, who had made three previous attempts to break out of the penitentiary. On each occasion he was captured not far from the prison. Hunter was under sentence of 15 to 30 years for assault with intent to commit murder.

Alvin Phelps, 28, serving a grand larceny term, was responsible for the escape, Warden William Delbridge said.

Phelps, a trusty, had been assigned to drive the oil truck. He permitted the others to climb into the interior of the empty truck through the 16-inch vents at the top.

A few miles out of Florence, Phelps saw a state highway automobile marked along the highway, occupied by John White.

Phelps, White said, leaped from the oil truck, captured him, and forced him to drive them toward Phoenix.

A few miles further on White was unceremoniously tossed from the car, while the five convicts drove on.

American Envoy in Abyssinia Slugged

Here is Addison E. Southard, U. S. minister to Abyssinia, who became the principal in another "international incident" when he was knocked down by a policeman after having run down a native woman with his automobile. The State Department is investigating.

DEADLOCK OF UNION HEADS DELAYS RAIL PLAN ACCEPTANCE

11 OF 21 GROUPS STILL UNDETERMINED WHETHER OR NOT TO ACCEPT WAGE CUT

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Union leaders today strove to break the deadlock which is holding up acceptance of a proposal by rail executives of a 10 per cent general wage reduction for 1,900,000 union rail employees.

Conference after conference left 11 of the 21 major rail labor groups still undecided whether to accept the reduction and a promise of stabilized employment or to hold out for better terms.

David B. Robertson, union chairman, reported no progress had been made in the past 24 hours.

"The individual unions meet again today in an effort to settle their problem," he said. "All I can say is that we'll certainly not see the railroad presidents to announce our decision until late this afternoon—if we do it then."

Observers were divided as to what the deadlock portends. Some believed ultimate acceptance of the reduction would be made as has been projected throughout the negotiations. Others suggested the apparent lack of harmony among the labor groups indicated the conference would fail.

The secret vote of 10 unions which have ballotted so far was believed to favor the reduction.

G. O. P. TO ENDORSE CANDIDATES, PLANKS AT CONFAB MARCH 12

SELECTION OF PRESIDENTIAL DELEGATES WILL BE CONDUCTED APRIL 30

Minneapolis, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—A statewide conference of Minnesota republicans in St. Paul on March 12 will endorse candidates for state offices and planks in a party platform for the first time in a dozen years, it was announced today.

At the same time it was announced that a conference for the selections of presidential delegates will be conducted on a date set tentatively for April 30.

Not since 1920 have the republicans endorsed candidates at a convention. Candidates have been decided by the voters in primary elections. Democrats and farmer-laborites, however, have endorsed their candidates in convention.

Six state offices will be endorsed, namely, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, and railroad and warehouse commissioner.

District conventions for choosing presidential delegates will be conducted April 28 with the probability that the state convention will be held two days later.

Guard Alabama Capitol After Bombing Threats

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Detectives and police were assigned to guard Alabama's historic state capitol today on orders of Gov. B. M. Miller, after receipt of a letter detailing an alleged bomb plot against the chief executive and other state officers.

The letter, received originally by State Auditor John Brandon, said two Birmingham men and two men from Walker county planned to place a bomb in the capitol and "get" Gov. Miller, John Peach, his legal adviser; William Feagin, director of the state board of administration, and Roy Nolen, assistant director of the convict department.

Consider Warning to Japan

Washington, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—A warning to Japan against violence at Shanghai was being considered by the administration today as an "eleventh hour" move to avert trouble in the far east.

Murai issued his ultimatum after representatives of Wu Teh-Chen had called on him but failed to deliver a reply. The Chinese said they were prepared to accept almost all of Japan's demands. Murai, during the long interview, spoke only once. He said: "Unless all the demands are accepted and executed, there will be drastic action."

The information that the Japanese had delivered an ultimatum demanding a satisfactory Chinese reply by 6 p. m. tomorrow was received here with grave concern. Secretary Stimson called into conference Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the far eastern division. Officials made no effort to conceal their perturbation.

NEWTON BAKER, WAR SECRETARY, SEEN AS CONVENTION SPLIT COMPROMISE NOMINEE

Washington, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Three developments within the last 24 hours have projected Newton D. Baker of Ohio into a position of importance in the Democratic presidential race.

First, Baker, in a statement, countered one of the chief arguments raised against him by asserting that although he believed in the League of Nations, it should not be a political issue in the coming campaign. He said, if he had the power, he would not favor American entrance until a majority of the people wished it.

Second, speculation as to a possible rift between Governor Roosevelt of New York and former Governor Alfred E. Smith increased with denial at Smith's office of Albany dispatches that Smith would soon call on Roosevelt. Third, Roosevelt declined to comment on the league issue, saying that was not to be construed as "pussyfooting" but that he was too busy with state affairs to give thought to national matters. If Roosevelt continues this course, it may prevent him from building up a platform of national issues to strengthen his presidential candidacy.

In event of a convention deadlock, which opposition by Smith to Roosevelt probably would produce, Baker is regarded as an available compromise.

Shanghai, China, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—A final ultimatum, giving the Chinese until 6 p. m. Thursday to comply with the Japanese demands, was issued to the Chinese in Shanghai today.

The ultimatum was delivered to Wu Teh-Chen, mayor of greater Shanghai, by Consul General Mural of Japan. It demanded a satisfactory reply from the Chinese in the time specified, which is 4 a. m. Thursday, central standard time.

Definite action by the Japanese was expected when the ultimatum expires.

Geneva, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—The council of the League of Nations, with the Japanese and Chinese members absent, convened secretly today, immediately after receipt of news of the Japanese ultimatum, to discuss the Manchurian situation.

And Shanghai was prepared for military action, with possible bombardment and occupation of all but the foreign settlements.

The Japanese have ten warships and 2,000 marines here; Chinese forces total about 20,000. Fourteen more Japanese warships are en route to Shanghai.

It was believed that the mayor of greater Shanghai would reply to the Japanese ultimatum today but that Admiral Shiosawa would regard the reply as too late. Japanese have demanded that anti-Japanese activities be curbed.

The seriousness of the situation was indicated by cancellation of 50 per cent of U. S. marine liberty passes, doubling of the strength to all platoon patrols, and orders to all British and American marines to remain within their own defense areas. All police station gates were locked as the result of rumors that anti-Japanese mobs were planning an attack.

Men of the fourth U. S. marines here total 1,000.

While the Japanese admiral expected a cruiser and 13 destroyers to reach here Thursday from the Sasebo naval base, officials of the settlement completed their arrangements for defense against the influx of thousands of refugees expected if Japan occupied the native quarter.

The French, with their own naval forces, police, and colonial troops, will defend the French town; United States marines will guard areas along Soochow creek; British forces will defend the western areas of the settlement; the Shanghai volunteer corps, composed of foreigners, will supplement police in the central district; French, British, and American warships will be anchored off the waterfront in the Wangpo river as usual.

Kills Self to Determine Life After Death

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Charles E. Butts, University of Alabama freshman, whose weird interest in the possibility of life after death, led him to a suicide attempt, lay near death today, as his parents raced by airplane to his bedside. Hospital authorities said it was doubtful if the 23-year-old college man would live until his parents enroute from Governor, N. Y., arrive.

Lytle was found guilty by Judge J. H. Warner of simple assault upon Peter Ahear. The prisoner was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or a 10 days' work sentence. Lytle was unable to meet the fine.

"If we haven't any work to keep him busy we will drum up some work for him," Judge Warner said.

Sylvia Sidney's Big Opportunity Lies in New Role

Sylvia Sidney, whose excellent work in "An American Tragedy" won favorable comment from the critics, now has the leading feminine part in "Ladies of the Big House," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Paramount theatre Thursday and Friday.

This picture is Paramount's screen version of the story by Ernest Booth, life-term convict author at Folsom prison. It is a gripping romantic drama of two persons who have fun at the law and presents a cross-section of the real drama of life within the quarters of a great prison.

"Ladies of the Big House" follows Miss Sidney's stellar appearance in "Street Scene," a United Artists' production for which she was loaned by Paramount.

Miss Sidney gained prominence when Paramount selected her to take the place of Clara Bow in "City Streets," when the red-haired star became ill. She also had the leading roles in "An American Tragedy" and "Confessions of a Co-Ed."

"Ladies of the Big House" further Miss Sidney's career as successor to Clara Bow, since "Ladies of the Mob," Booth's first screen story, served as Clara's most dramatic role several years ago.

THE BUSES MUST BE REGULATED--

Co-ordination of all methods of transportation including railroads, waterways, airlines, motor buses and trucks and all other types with each handling traffic in which it is the most efficient is the dream of the future. It is generally agreed that this procedure should be followed out but, under present circumstances, with several of them widely divergent because of the fact that one is regulated by national authority and the other is not, it is hardly possible to bring about this co-ordination.

Yet, it appears to be the logical step towards ironing out the difficulties and Leo J. Flynn, examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has come to the front with a recommendation that provides the commission with permission to extend its authority to include the regulation of interstate motor-bus and truck operation that appears to fit the needs to eliminate the present unjustified system.

Motor transportation, in its own interests and the interests of the public, should be allowed to offer the most attractive rates and services possible consistent with its actual costs of operation, including the use of the highways. But these tariffs should be crystallized, as railroad tariffs have been, into some uniformity upon which the shipper and even the competing motor carriers can rely. Moreover, regulation can make sure of the financial responsibility of motor transport operators and of their regard for public safety.

But there are some things which regulation cannot do. It cannot alone equalize the conditions of competition between motor and rail, which Mr. Flynn's report and other studies indicate is clearly necessary if satisfactory railroad service is to be maintained. He says:

The question of taxation of motor vehicles for hire operating on the public highways has so important an economic relation to the highway competition confronting carriers now subject to its jurisdiction that the commission should direct attention to the necessity for ascertaining . . . whether or not motor carriers . . . are contributing toward the construction and maintenance of the public highways used by them an amount commensurate with their use of such highways as places of business.

This is largely a subject for state action. Federal regulation of interstate bus and truck operation is necessary and desirable for many reasons, but it should not be looked upon as a panacea. States should see that their own systems of regulation for intrastate motor carriers are functioning effectively and that they are distributing tax burdens equitably between railroads and motor lines in view of the latter's use of the publicly built highways.

THAT MEXICAN TOMB--

Necklaces and breast plates of solid gold, pearls as big as doves' eggs, jade ornaments that are beyond price, carvings of alabaster and amethyst, vases of gold and onyx—the treasures of the ancient tomb recently opened on Monte Alban, in old Mexico, seem to be the sort of thing archaeologists dream about but seldom see.

Undoubtedly the discovery will be of great importance for the light it will shed on civilization in Mexico before the Spanish conquest. Even better, however, is the fact that its dazzling richness will lead many Americans to a new interest in that old civilization.

One of the most romantic and colorful tales in all history is the tale of ancient Mexican civilization. Yet most of us never bother to find out about it. We know that Montezuma ruled the Aztecs when Cortez came, and that the Spaniards took many a shipload of gold out of his realm—but that's about all. The details of the bizarre civilization that the Spaniards found and destroyed are a closed book to us. And the book is well worth reading.

If ever men stumbled into an enchanted land, those conquering Spaniards did. Small wonder that Bernal Diaz, their historian, wrote wildly and left all power of criticism behind him! Enlightened and superstitious, rich and half-naked, polished and crude, refined and cruel—the Mexican civilization was a bundle of riddles, a mass of contradictions that are not even yet entirely unraveled.

Where did they come from, those ancient Indian civilizers? Where did they learn the arts and sciences that made their cities dazzle their conquerors? Where did they get that startling legend of a white god who came out of the Atlantic, taught them for a time and then sailed away into the east? Whence came their ornaments of jade—found nowhere else in the new world? Where did they get that old world emblem, the swastika? Why did they have a cross in so many of their sacred carvings?

There are dozens of similar questions to be answered. The field is almost incredibly interesting. The man who is induced, by this new tale of a rich tomb, to do a little reading about ancient Mexico will find himself richly repaid.

WHERE COMMUNISM GROWS--

News that the Spanish government has suppressed a Communist outbreak in a dozen cities and towns is not surprising. The Reds have done their best to find some advantage for themselves in the muddled waters of the Spanish revolution, but there is little reason to suppose that they will be able, now or later on, to take possession of the government.

Communism only really flourishes in one kind of soil—where there is a great deal of brutal and stupid repression, a great deal of hunger and hardship, and very little reason to hope that there is going to be any change for the better without a thoroughgoing overturn.

Such conditions prevailed in Russia, and Russia went Communist—and stayed that way. Spain, however, was hardly in the same class. Communism is such a drastic and bad-tasting medicine that no society turns to it unless it feels that its condition could not possibly be any worse.

To the Editor of Daily Dispatch:

In this progressive old U. S., the land of the full dinner pail and an empty stomach, I have traveled over every state, south and west of Minnesota, in the last two and a half years, and being a laboring man, or a man today without a profession, caused by our progressive ideas and science, which I will explain in a future issue if this does not reach the waste basket.

I have read many forms of prosperity advocated by our very bright men from all parties and some of them are very logical too; but the question that seems to be the puzzle today is the unemployed and how to care for them.

Here is a world wide winner that I ran across in a town in California last winter. Driving into the town I saw some 50 men at work with picks, shovels and wheelbarrows, grading a street with one team of horses to a plow. I was looking for work and said to myself, "Here is where I get a job," as it was work we laboring men wanted, not charity. I found the foreman and asked for work. He kindly informed me that he had no authority to hire but to go see the mayor down town. This I did and after being asked a few questions if I was a resident of the city and a voter of record, I informed him I was not. Now here comes the point. He very nicely explained to me that he could not give me employment for this reason. That those laboring men were all residents of their city, that they paid taxes, they helped to maintain their schools, churches and kept up the general prosperity of their city; that those men had homes partly paid for and bought their goods of stores at home and owed store bills and other bills.

Therefore he could not use me. I then asked why he did not use machinery, if it could not be done cheaper. He said it might and in the long run, it might not. He said I pay three men every Saturday night, by Monday night this money is nearly all either back in our banks or bills are partly paid on homes or to our merchants, or the various departments and next Saturday night I do the same thing and the money is here in town, whereas if this work was done by some big machine or trucks employing some 10 or 12 men, our money would be sent east or somewhere to pay for this machinery. Now what would our home men be doing? Nothing but standing in a bread line and we would be compelled to feed them and they would lose their homes that are partly paid for and other bills go unpaid and I still think that this is the great problem of the present that will bring our great country back where it ought to be. Give the laboring man work and he can buy the manufacturers' foods. If the laborer has no work he has no money and he has no buying power and from this the factory either has over produced and is caused to shut down, because we have nothing to buy with.

Very truly yours,
DAN C. NEELY,
806 Mill St.,
Brainerd, Minn.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

I read with intense interest Mr. T. F. Salisbury's letter in your issue of January 20th and agree with him in several things that he writes but I am sure he would not make some of the statements he did if he would have made a bit of investigation first. I would suggest that he ask the county treasurer the value of and the taxes paid upon lake property owned by people who are not residents of Crow Wing county. He should also ask some of the prominent merchants and gas-line stations if the summer residents leave any cash when they come to town. It is also suggested that he go to the various chambers in Brainerd and see the many strange faces that come to offer thanks and praise to Almighty God, the Creator of it all, while they are living here during the summer, and that they even put a dollar or more in the offering as a material sign of their appreciation.

What I think Mr. Salisbury and what I and others are really interested in is to see that our natural resources are more efficiently protected. We don't need more laws but we do need men of conviction and integrity to enforce what we have. Men that are not cowards and have the courage of their convictions. Let's rise up in our wrath and say to the illegal fisherman, the game hog, the poacher, the illegal fish and game broker that we as joint owners of our lakes and woods and fields and streams will no longer tolerate such damnable practices.

Sincerely yours,
C. M. BRANDON

COMPLETED ARSENAL AT CAMP RIPLEY TO HOUSE 28 EMPLOYEES

IS OUTSTANDING STRUCTURE AT CAMP; BUILDING COST ESTIMATED AT $50,000

Recently completed at a cost of $50,000, the arsenal is the most conspicuous building at Camp Ripley, having spacious quarters for the 28 federal and state employees in the United States property and disbursing department.

Seven of these are employed in offices, two in warehouses, four on construction, three in utilities and twelve in the motor repair section.

The building is 180 feet long and 80 feet wide. The office section occupies the entire frontage with a depth of 40 feet. The first floor is partly underground. Two floors are above this. The arsenal in the rear contains two floors.

To the right of the central hall is a general office containing the 80-line telephone switchboard. Miss Marion Monitor is on duty in the outer office, with Colonel R. A. Rossberg, head of the property department, occupying one adjoining office and Captain Gary Fagrie the other.

Office floors are of heavy linoleum and hall floors and stairs of terrazo. Doors are steel.

Bars have been installed at the windows because valuable military trophies probably will be housed in the arsenal.

VITALEX CONTAINS VITAMINS A, B & D

And Here's Why

Vitalex, the tonic which is keeping over 1,000,000 people on the path to healthful happiness, contains the body building and protective vitamins A, B & D.

Vitamin A aids in the prevention of colds and other germ infections. Vitamin B aids in body growth, proper food assimilation and increases the appetite. Vitamin D is the bone builder and active antirachitic principle of cod liver oil which controls the calcium and phosphorus balance of the body. L. S. Johnson Laboratories of Boston (over 110 years old) perfected Vitalex. It contains no strong stimulants, no powerful drugs, no heart depressants and no opiates.

If you are weak, tired, and restless and your legs ache, or if you are troubled with headaches, gas, indigestion, bad breath or constipation; if you are "neurotic" with "jumpy" nerves, then you need Vitalex right now. Your druggist will supply you Vitalex in tablet or liquid form, with the distinct understanding that if it does not bring satisfactory results within seven days you may return the unused portion and receive a full refund. HOT FOUR-CORNERED RACE SEEN IN N. L. WANT ADS

ST. LOUIS, NEW YORK, ROBINS, CHICAGO ARE POSSIBLE WINNERS

New York, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—It's a little late to predict the outcome of the 1932 National league pennant race but the pre-season dope indicates it will be a finish fight between four teams—St. Louis, New York, Brooklyn and Chicago.

The world champion Cardinals appear to have the inside track. Manager Gabby Street's crew, despite the loss of Burleigh Grimes, will be as strong this season as it was last. And a team that dethroned the Philadelphia Athletics as baseball champions of the world should be good enough to win another National league pennant.

Brooklyn may provide the Cardinals the toughest competition if Hack Wilson, the home run puncher purchased from the Cardinals, regains his 1930 form. An outfield of Wilson, Lefty O'Doul and Babe Herman, hitting as they did in 1930, should come pretty close to putting a team on top if the supporting cast is any good at all. The big Brooklyn question mark is pitching.

New York and Chicago are sure to be strong. Many close followers of baseball believe the Giants are the team that will have to be beaten for the championship. The Cubs loom almost as strong, however, providing their recruit infielders, Herman and Hack, live up to expectations.

Here is how the teams stack up: St. Louis—Excellent pitching; good fielding and hitting infield; fine catching; a better than average outfield. New York—The best infield in the league; good outfield; fair pitching and catching.

Brooklyn—Heavy hitting outfield; a mediocre infield unless Shortstop Glenn Wright is able to play regularly; pitching the big problem.

Chicago—Fine pitching and catching; fast outfield; uncertain infield. Pittsburgh—Good pitching, fair hitting and fielding.

Boston—Fine pitching; infield and outfield only average.

Philadelphia—Heavy hitting; fair fielding; short on pitching strength. Cincinnati—The best all-around fielding club in the league with fair pitching; not much batting power.

Litchfield Remembers Bierman as First Baseman

Litchfield, Minn., Jan. 26.—(U.P.)—Although known widely as a guide and coach and the opportunity Bierman will have in his new position as coach at Minnesota, former teammates of the Litchfield high school baseball team recounted tales with the bat.

The unbeaten record of the high school team of 1912 on which Bierman was a heavy-hitting first baseman were among the memories recalled by Ray Pope, postoffice clerk, who played center field on that team, Ernest W. Campbell, former mayor, and Ben Anderson, who played on the first football team of which Bierman was a member.

Doeg Retires From Tournye Competition

New York, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—John Hope Doeg, former holder of three national singles and joint holder of the doubles tennis titles, was quoted today as saying that he has retired from tournament play.

Doeg was credited with stating that never again would he appear in a Davis cup match or as a contender for the national championship, because he intended concentrating his efforts in the advertising business.

George Rector, of Broadway's famous Rector's, for 20 years one of the most glamorous restaurants along the Great White Way, is telling the radio audience how to prepare the dishes that used to delight Enrico Caruso, Sarah Bernhardt, and Diamond Jim Brady.

The famous restaurateur will be heard once a week on the A. & P. Tea company daily food program over the stations of the N. B. C. system at 9:30 a. m.

From 1899 to 1919 Rector's was the rendezvous of celebrities of stage, society and politics.

PITCHING, PHILLIES' PERENNIAL PROBLEM, HOLDS KEY TO CAMPAIGN

New York, Jan. 27.—(U.P.)—Mediocre pitching is expected to prove the same old handicap to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1932.

For years the Phillies have boasted a strong hitting club but they made little progress because of indifferent hurling.

Manager Burt Shotton will have to uncover at least two promising hurlers if he hopes to better the Phillies' position in 1931 when they finished seventh. He will have eight veteran moundmen back but only four of them have measured up to major league standards. They are Ray Benge, Jim Elliott, Phil Collins and Clise Dudley. Stewart Bolen, Ed Falloonstein, Frank Watt and John Milligan are the other seasoned performers.

Heading the list of rookie hurlers is Edgar Holley, purchased from the Kansas City American association club, where he won 14 and lost 12 last season.

Robert Adams, recalled from Richmond; Roy Hansen, recalled from Dallas; and Chester Nichols, recalled from St. Paul are the other newcomers. Nichols appears to have the best chance of the three for winning a berth on the staff.

LUNDBORG'S The Quality Jeweler

THREE KINDS of LOVE BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN AND CECILY FEENICK have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, MARY-FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "THE OLDIES" and "GRAND." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry PHIL ECKROYD, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecil, 22, loves BARRY McKEIL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name her wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DE ARMENT, vaudeville actor, and meets him secretly. He tries to persuade her to become his stage partner. Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LUTHER KING, who works in "B" office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going around with KENNETH SMITH, rich and attentive. Cecil is distressed when she learns Barry has left town without telling her about it.

Mary-Frances sends a note to De Arment to arrange a meeting with him next day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVI

"WELL, but that isn't fair, is it?" said Mary-Frances.

"No, it's not. Only when Daddy said he'd rent the ponies for us you were doing lots better than I was in algebra, and I guess he thought we'd help each other and all. I guess Daddy thought we'd each work for the other, like true friends should. I guess he never even dreamed that you'd go and flunk."

"It wasn't my fault I flunked, was it? We can swim, anyway."

"No, we can't," said Ermintrude. "Well, why can't we?"

"Daddy and Mother were up there yesterday tending to final arrangements and all, and they watched them empty the pool, and they say there is a foot, anyway, of stagnant water that won't empty out, and they won't let me swim for fear of infection, and they are going to advise against it to everybody, and Mother says she won't be responsible for the girls that do, and the tournament is out of the question."

"Well," accused Mary-Frances, "I must say! That's nice, isn't it? If we can't ride and can't swim, what can we do?"

"Nothing. Everything is ruined. Just ruined. Unless, maybe, you didn't flunk in algebra after all."

Their sighs joined and sank in the sunshine. "I'll tell you one thing I won't do," said Ermintrude. "I won't sit around and read poetry all the time. I won't do it, Mary-Frances. And I won't let on to the other girls, like you said, about you and Earl, either. Suppose I did, and one of the girls—Barbara Flaxton for instance, it would be just exactly like her—should go and tell her mother, and Mrs. Flaxton would tell Mother, and it would all come back on me?"

"Ermintrude," said Mary-Frances, wisely patient, "is that very sensible? It would come back on me, wouldn't it? It wouldn't come back on you, would it?"

"Well, I won't do it, anyway," declared Ermintrude. "I just have one of those strong psychic hunches of mine that I'd better not. You know how I am when I have one of those—"

Mary-Frances said, "All right, darling," hurriedly. The fire house was just around the corner. "I always trust your psychic hunches, and you know I do. I expect, maybe, we can coax your mother into letting us swim."

"Nobody," said Ermintrude, from the depths of sad experience, "can coax either my mother or my daddy into anything."

"They'll mellow, I expect," prophesied Mary-Frances. "Grand and Rosalie say that age mellowes everybody like everything. They," boasted Mary-Frances, "can be coaxed into anything. Ann and Cissy aren't so good. They're like your mother and daddy—they've got to mellow. I'll wait right here for you, darling."

Ermintrude took the letter, written on Rosalie's orchid notepaper, looked at it for an instant, put it to her nose. But, "I think you've got too much perfume on it," was her only voiced objection. She went. Mary-Frances waited.

"ERMINTRUDE! I thought you were never coming back. Did you find him?"

"Course I found him. He was right in his room, and he opened the door when I knocked."

"What'd he say when he saw you?"

GAME WARDENS SERVICE RECORDS BUILD BETTER EFFICIENCY

REMOVE POLITICS FROM GAME, FISH DEPARTMENT, AIM

18 TAKE EXAMINATIONS HERE TO IMPROVE STANDING, INSURE WORK

A movement destined to eliminate politics from the State Game and Fish Department was apparent here today as examinations were conducted at the city hall for 18 deputy game wardens of the district to establish their service records.

While the examinations which eventually will reach all deputy game wardens in the state are not classified in the form of civil service, they virtually represent the same.

Will Protect Efficient Men

The department in this manner will have in reach the record of the qualifications of each man and those who meet the requirements will not be affected by a change in officials by election.

The examinations represent a protection to the efficient game wardens working for the state and will produce a better working, more capable department, unhampered by politics and better qualified to carry out the laws of the state without local and state wide inference. These in brief were the words of Louis Enstrom, Roseau, Minnesota, deputy director of the game and fish department, who conducted the examination here today.

To Improve Department

The examinations also represent an initial step in the complete reorganization of efficiency in the game and fish department.

Technicality in answering written and verbal questions will not altogether decide the efficiency of a game warden. His service record in the practical field will be important also, Enstrom said.

We find that at the present time the department lacks information concerning the capacity and standing of the game wardens on the force. If changes are necessary, it is difficult to secure an efficient successor because of a lack of record of applicants. This step in securing such information should be of interest to all people in Minnesota who are interested in the game and fish department. These examinations are only corner stones to the reorganization plan the department has in mind. Examinations of the men will be required at regular times. Those who make good will know they will continue to hold their jobs even though there is a change in political leaders," Enstrom said.

The complete reorganization of methods of the department may result in the governor only as a figurehead in direction of affairs of the department. Similar examinations were conducted at Virginia and Bemidji today and examinations will be conducted at Willmar, Marquette and St. Paul Friday.

OBJECT BELIEVED MISSING BRITISH SUB LOCATED ON BOTTOM

tions could be begun immediately the submarine was definitely found. The sea was choppy, with a stiff northeasterly breeze and it was misty.

Experts here feared it was impossible that any of the submarine's crew could be rescued alive. They based their opinion on these deductions:

First, if the men were still alive and able to reach the escape hatches, they would already have used the Davis safety lung with which they are equipped, and at least one or two would have escaped.

Secondly, if they are alive and unable to reach the hatches, it was feared that because of the submarine's size, the rescue ships would be unable to raise her before her maximum supply of 72 hours of air would be exhausted.

A statement issued from the headquarters here of Commander-in-Chief Admiral Sir Arthur Wastell said: "A submarine of the M-2 class could remain submerged in an emergency for 48 hours. She is equipped with the latest life saving devices."

First warning of a mishap came when the wireless operator on the submarine depot ship Titania was unable

Asked to select the ten greatest Minnesotans, Larry "H" Hodgson, former St. Paul mayor, now columnist on a St. Paul newspaper, recognizes the work of three men to the extent that they might fill all positions.

One of these men is Dr. J. A. Thabes Sr., Brainerd, well known physician and surgeon and president of the State Board of Health.

"Larry Ho's" explanation is: "Having been asked to make out a list of the ten greatest Minnesotans, I gave the first two places to Rev. Wm. Colbert of Currie. After that the job was not so easy to pick the other eight, although Dr. J. A. Thabes of Brainerd and Ben Hanson of Willmar could not be turned down."

to communicate with the missing submarine. Authorities were notified immediately.

The whole mine sweeping flotilla stationed here was ordered to aid in the search. Crews from the sweepers off duty were assembled from their homes and from theaters in Portland and Weymouth.

The M-2 had been used recently in experiments to catapult an airplane from a submarine. The plane was carried in a water tight hangar.

The disappearance of the M-2 was announced almost simultaneously with the launching of the latest British submarine, the Thames, of 1,760 tons, the 23rd undersea craft built since the world war.

"Arrest that smoker's cough, Officer"

"STOP" was the word
But one tough bird
Drove on. The cop began to bristle
At being scoffed...
But then, he coughed
And coughed... and couldn't blow his whistle.

A fellow cop
Said, "Smatter pop?
The fags you smoke have caused

Your throat went stiff.
I tell you, if
You smoked OLD GOLDS,
